Floorfashion by Muurbloem

Muurbloem Design Studio

At Muurbloem, we work as a multidisciplinary design studio.

We design walls, products and interiors but also specialise in designing patterns.

How people choose to decorate themselves and their environments has always intrigued us. We are fascinated by old cultures and traditions and this has broadened our knowledge within design application and has created a solid platform for the creation of Floorfashion by Muurbloem.

The concept

Doing business abroad can be an exhilarating and inspiring experience opening gateways to layers of new cultures. Since ancient time, people of different cultures have hand-crafted patterns for their clothing. These patterns were used as one of the first ways of communicating interests and developments.

On journeys, impulses of fashion influence us and we put on new layers when shifting and adapting to new cultural settings. The creation of Floorfashion by Muurbloem began with mapping the world, searching for special details and cultural diversities between continents and countries. We found that each culture is composed of complex and unique layers. In fashion, the use of layers is a widely known phenomenon. We wish to introduce this phenomenon to the Muurbloem carpet collection. As fashion dresses a person, Floorfashion by Muurbloem dresses architecture.

Design in layers

Each carpet design in the collection is composed of four different layers.

The large span of patterns decorates the interior and adds a beautiful and striking expression to the environment. Select the layers you desire and recolour to create unique styles and atmospheres. Behind each layer is hidden new meanings and new expressions that when combined transform into impressive floorfashion.

Have a nice journey!

Floorfashion by Muurbloem

Ground breaking layer concept

Floorfashion by Muurbloem is a multifunctional collection of 12 designs inspired by local, folkloristic clothing from all over the world. Each design is composed of a set of four layers which can be individually selected and recoloured. The four layers differ from one another in regards to motif, colours and proportions.

Working with the layers is easy. Simply select as many of the layers of a design as you please. By adding and recolouring layers, Floorfashion by Muurbloem allows you to create truly fashionable floorscapes. As a quick and easy alternative to your own personal layer mix, this catalogue presents a wide range of predefined layer combinations for your inspiration.

The collection is developed in ege's standard colour palettes making recolouration possible for all designs. The Floorfashion by Muurbloem collection contains some standard patterns in which blend colours are used. Solid and blend colours are shown in colour codes beneath each pattern.

Colour codes GB1-12 equal solid colours and colour codes AC equals blend colours.

Please note that both standard and special designs, with large uni-coloured areas, in Highline 80/20 1100 and Highline Loop might require an approved production trial run prior to final production.

All this with:

- Recolour options (see p. 92)
- 12 unique large scale designs in contemporary colour shades
- Unique, flexible layer concept
- No minimum order requirements
- 7 standard qualities (see technical specifications p. 99)
- Undisputed performance standard EN 1307
- Performance classification to fit any need
- 24 hours sample service
- Dispatch within 2 weeks from receipt of order

Yukata

RF5275B1234 Yukata

Yukata

The Yukata is a colourful Japanese garment with straight and wide sleeves. A child may wear a multicoloured print, a young woman a floral print while an older woman would often wear a Yukata in traditional dark blue colours with a geometric pattern. The Yukata carpet design reflects the beautiful flowers of a young woman and the design succeeds in adding a feminine touch to the architecture. The extreme large flowers are creating an appealing and an exuberant atmosphere.

Haori

RF5275A1234 Hoori

Haori

The Japanese Haori is a lightweight jacket made of silk which is used to keep the formal kimono clean and dry. Originally, the Haori was worn only by men, but in the beginning of the 20th century it became a fashionable garment for women as well. With her beauty, this Haori carpet design covers and protects the floor. By colouring the layers, this design will fit any interior.

Huiipi

RF5220P1234 Huipil

Huipil

Huipil means blouse or dress and is a garment worn by women in Central to Southern Mexico. The Huipil is often beautifully decorated with hand-made stitching and embroidery. The elaborate design and patterns of a traditional Huipil delicately reflect the layers of the wearer's history; the village she belongs to, her marital status and her personal beliefs. The Huipil carpet design applies an intelligent order of patterns which bring out the various functions and styles of an interior.

Huipil is composed of a base colour and four layers.

Sarape

RF5220N1234 Sarape

Sarape

The Sarape is a long shawl often worn by Mexican men. The design, which is a fusion of indigenous and Spanish elements, often consists of a dark base colour with bands of bright colours. The use of colour and design creates a three dimensional effect which is truly unique. Referring to the colourful bands of the shawl, the Sarape carpet design is created by mixing classic Spanish patterns in various colours.

Kurta

RF5275K1234 Kurta

Kurta

The Kurta is a traditional garment worn in Afghanistan, Bangladesh, India, Pakistan, Nepal and Sri Lanka. It is tailored as a loose shirt falling either just above or somewhere below the knees of the wearer, and it is worn by both men and women. The cut of the Kurta is usually simple although the design of the fabric can be quite elaborate. The Kurta carpet design shows a mixture of various patterns which are loosely laid next to and on top of each other. Looking at the carpet, your eyes travel from one layer of pattern to the other, allowing you to go into depth with the surface, but never being fixed on one path.

Kurta is composed of a base colour and four layers.
Select the layers you prefer to create your own design.
The last digits in the design number reflect the layer choice.

Sari

For more than 5000 years, the Asian Sari has been worn by women in India. Thus, the Sari is as old as the civilisation of India itself. The overall consensus is that the Sari highlights the beauty and elegance of women's curves. Consisting of a large panel of fabric, wrapped in various ways, the Sari is still today worn throughout India by women of all ages. The Sari carpet design aims to highlight the beauty and elegance of an interior.

Dashiki

The dashiki is a colourful garment widely worn by African men. It is often worn as a loose-fitting pullover with ornate V-shaped collar, neck and sleeve lines. The Dashiki carpet design combines handicrafted ornaments such as pearl embroidery and sand patterns with sturdy and large organic spots of colours and structures.

Dashiki is composed of a base colour and four layers.

The colourful Iro is a traditional garment worn by women in West Africa. The formality level of the Iro depends on the fabric that is used. It has formal and informal versions and varies from simply draped to fully tailored ensembles. The Iro carpet design refers to the warm structures and tactile patterns of African traditions. Each layer contributes to building up an informal design.

Iro is composed of a base colour and four layers.

Bodice

Historically, the Bodice was a garment worn by women, which covered the body from the neck to the waist. In modern usage, it typically refers to a specific type of upper garment common in Europe during the 16th to 18th centuries. Bodices were laced in spiral fashion with one continuous lace. The Bodice carpet design is based on Eastern European patterns. The first layers have traditional background, whereas the last two layers transform historical patterns into large, modern design.

Bodice is composed of a base colour and four layers.

SZUR

RF5275C1234 Szur

The Szur is a dramatic coat which was traditionally worn over the shoulders as a cape. The coat is lavishly decorated with cutwork felt appliqué, made by Magyar herdsmen in Hungary, as far back as the Middle Ages. The geometric shapes make the coat an ideal canvas for other needlework techniques, as well as for handwoven fabrics. You find the geometric patterns of the coat in the first layers of the Szur carpet design. The top layer is filled with laced patterns which elegantly decorate the surface.

Szur is composed of a base colour and four layers.
Select the layers you prefer to create your own design.
The last digits in the design number reflect the layer choice.
Example: Szur with layer 1 and 4 – RF5275C1004

Kamiks

RF5275G1234 Kamiks

Kamiks

Traditional Kamik boots are worn by women in Greenland on special occasions. Kamiks are made of sealskin, and consist of three parts: The inside stocking Kamik; a layer of grass for warmth and ventilation; and the outer Kamik. The boots are found in various shapes; for summer and winter, according to occasions, age and gender of the wearer. Walking over the landscape of the Kamik carpet design, you cross fields and pass through rough bushes. Recolor the layers and take a walk in your own landscape.

Kamiks is composed of a base colour and four layers.

Bund

RF5275H1234 Bunad

Bunad

Bunad is a traditional Norwegian, national costume typically of rural origin. The designs are often elaborately performed with hand-made embroidery and matching scarves, shawls and hand-made silver or gold jewellery. Traditional Bunads were decorated to reflect the family home and area of origin of the wearer. The Bunad carpet design refers to a floor plan of extreme embroidery. The organic branches and leaves are draped like a shawl over the surface of your interior.

Create your own cross cultural style

Challenge your creativity and travel across the borders of the Floorfashion landscape to create your own, exciting cross cultural style. All Floorfashion designs have been designed with matching design properties allowing you to mix layers across design themes.

Please note that when mixing layers across design themes, the design will be considered a special design.

- Check out the cross cultural overview, pages 96-97
- Select your favourite layers – always include a base colour
- Choose layer order
- Select colour palette and colouration
- The ege Design team will prepare a design print of the cross cultural special design

Please note that when combining layers from different colour palettes, the design can only be recoloured using one colour palette.
